

Blue

Women of the Red Earth

Grandmother
Storyteller

FORGOTTEN

For Every Season,
Change Comes

On the Farm

HEALING
MOTHER

Talking Circle and Artist Reception January 25

Women of the Red Earth

Presented by SCC Art Department

The exhibition "Women of the Red Earth" gives a view through the indigenous lens and features the poems of Tonya Holy Elk Locklear who is Lumbee/Oglala Lakota, and the visual art work of Margie Beth Labadie, who is Ashkenazi-Levi. This Native American-non-Native American collaboration crosses cultural boundaries and opens lines of communication for all communities. Everyone is invited to participate in the evening discussion and attend the opening reception to learn more about the poetry and art. The companion book, "Women of the Red Earth", is available through their website, EarthWomenArts.com.

Talking Circle with the artists and community:

Thursday, January 25, 5-6pm

Followed by a Reception in the Wyche Gallery, 6-7pm

Southeastern Community College

Exhibition Dates: January 16-February 23, 2018